"Career Night"

In the Coleman High School Auditorium, at 7.30 p.m. on April 12th, the school is again privileged to hold a "Career Night." This is your opportunity to deal directly with persons who are fully qualified and capable in advising your son, daughter or anyone concerned, as to the possibility and advisability of entering any particular field of work. It is increasingly difficult for students to know what line of work they would like to take up, simply because of ignorance, of the all qualifications, the training involved and the prospects for employment after completion of a course. The child's future is important, so parents, please attend and get some of the questions answered.

The following speakers will be present: Dr. A. J. Cook, Director, Student Advisory Services, University of Alberta, Edmonton; G. L. Iveson, Public Relations Officer, Imperial Oil Ltd.; O. Kingsep, Shop Director, Institute of Technology and Art, Calgary; E. C. Henderson, Principal, Henderson Secretarial School, Calgary; S. A. Earl, Coordinator of Teacher Training, Department of Education; A speaker from the Armed Forces; A nurse, Crows Nest Pass Municipal Hospital.

Pensioners Plan Fashion Show

The Coleman branch of the Old Age Pensioners Association held its regular meeting in the Elks hall in Coleman this week attended by well over 80 members. The group agreed to hold a summer picnic this year and in order to raise funds for this venture it was decided to hold a fashion show. The fashion show will be held in the Elks Hall in Coleman on the evening of April 16. It was announced that girls of the Coleman High School would model the clothing to be displayed by the various merchants.

All proceeds from the show will be earmarked for the summer picnic. Miss Irene Gibbs, this year's Queen of the Crow's Nest Pass Winter Carnival, will also be present and will model the gown that won her top honors at the Banff Winter Carnival costume ball. The gown of white satin features green evergreen trees sprinkled with glitter dust. The gown was designed and hand made by a number of Blairmore women.

After the meeting a community sing-song was enjoyed with Mrs. Nora Goulding, president of the Coleman branch, accompanying at the piano. Further entertainment was supplied by Mrs. Polly Purvis, Mrs. P. Dykes, Adam Wilson and Arthur Williams of Blairmore.

VIMY!

Canadian Legion Held Social Evening To Commemorate The Battle of Vimy Ridge Monday Evening

VIMY !! The word that brings to Canadian minds an old but still vivid picture of cruel trench warfare blended, incongruously, somehow, with a beautiful war memorial in France, was a word mentioned with due reverence on Monday.

We are told the ridge, where men from the Land of the Maple Leaf fell by the thousands, has again been planted with maples.

Battle Entered
The Canadian Corps entered battle for the ridge on April 9, 1917, as part of the spring drive of the Allies on the western front. It was a cardinal turning point in the war.

A lone upland about 475 feet in height, it afforded fine observation of the country for miles around in almost every direction. It was also the hinge on which the triumphant German army had pivoted in its retirement to the Hindenburg line only a few weeks before.

The Canadians attacked on a front of 7,000 yards and after a frightful bombardment took the ridge in their stride. By April 13 they had penetrated six miles into the enemy's lines (remember this was before modern, fast-moving warfare and only difficulty in bringing up supplies and guns stopped the advance).

The battle, although it did not eventuate into open warfare, did foreshadow today's, or at least yesterday's, war of movement.

It also proved again that the most elaborate fortifications could be penetrated by a determined attacker.

Coleman Collieries and Square M Construction Co. Awarded Road Contract for Over Two Million

OTTAWA - Public Works Minister Robert Winters has announced building contracts totalling more than three and a half million dollars were awarded by the government for work in Alberta last month.

This was more than half of all contracts awarded by the federal government during March in the whole of Canada, he said.

Biggest contract let for construction in Alberta last month, he said, was for $2,184,207. It was awarded to Square M Construction Ltd., and Coleman Collieries Ltd. of Edmonton.

This two-million-plus contract was for grading, provision of culverts, base course and prime coat on the Trans-Canada Highway, miles 21 to 31, in Banff National Park.

Blood Donors Clinic To Be Held

The Pythian Sisters have again undertaken the canvass of the town for blood donors and it is hoped that all who are able will attend so that blood may be available at all times when and where needed.

Happiness quite unshared can scarcely be called happiness. It has no taste. —Mrs. Gaskell.

Frank Is Setting For Annual Convention Job's Daughters

FRANK — The second annual convention of the International Order Grand Council Daughters of Job, held at the Turtle Mountain Playgrounds at Frank came to a perfect close Wednesday evening after two days of session and meetings were held. The affair was attended by 151 girls from Alberta and British Columbia Bethels and approximately 60 adult delegates. Hundreds of interested visitors also attended the open sessions.

The convention opened on Tuesday when Miss Johann Shearer of Hillcrest as mistress of ceremonies and honored guest of Bethel No. 4 of Hillcrest introduced and presented the distinguished guests and grand officers and gave an address of welcome to all. The event was highlighted when the Grand Officers entered the hall preceded by an escort of Royal Canadian Mounted Police from the Blairmore detachment. This impressive ceremony was much appreciated by the American delegates at the convention from Idaho and Washington States.

Civic Welcome

Mayor William Gray of Blairmore, present for the occasion gave a warm welcome to all the visitors and delegates at the convention, extending the key to Blairmore to all visitors. Short addresses were also given by Mrs. Lulu Lydia, Past Supreme Guardian of the Supreme Council of the State of Washington, and by Mrs. Nina McDonald, Vice-Grand Guardian of the state of Idaho. Mr. S. G. Bannan, E. C. Cosstick of Blairmore and by Mr. Albert Wagner, Past Associate Grand Guardian of Calgary.

During the afternoon the Edmonton Bethels gave a Bible Ceremony after which the Rev. Roy Chubb of Blairmore offered invocation and a short address. A flag ceremony was then held displaying the Union Jack, the American flag, the Christian Bethel flag, and three girls wearing shoulder sashes represented Australia, Hawaii and West Germany. For entertainment the large gathering enjoyed selections rendered by the Bethel No. 4 of Hillcrest and piano solos rendered by Miss Joyce Mouser of Claresholm Bethel, after which drill team displays were presented by teams from Fort Macleod, Calgary and Medicine Hat.

Wednesday morning the business session was opened a marked by an impressive memorial service conducted by the girls of the Fort Macleod Bethel. After this ceremony the young ladies were excused and were taken on sight-seeing tours of the Crow's Nest Pass area.

Following a buffet lunch, the session continued with a majority degree which was conferred upon six Lethbridge and one Hillcrest girls who had reached the age of 20. This part of the program was conducted by the Hillcrest Bethel. The visitors were then taken on a bus trip to Crow's Nest Lakes and to the summit overlooking Alberta and British Columbia.

Officers installed

At 6 p.m. a banquet was held, followed by the installation of officers for the 1956-57 term. Elected to the grand council office were Grand Guardian, Mrs. Ethel Brooks of Edmonton; Associate Grand Guardian, Ian Hendry of Lethbridge; Vice Grand Guardian, Mrs. Ethel Foster of Edmonton; Associate Vice Grand Guardian, Horace Gray of Claresholm Grand Guide, Mrs. Eva Davis of Fort Macleod, and Grand Marshal, Mrs. Geraldine Greig of Medicine Hat. Thirteen other officers were then appointed from the other various Bethels in the Province.

An address was then performed by the Edmonton Bethels, honoring Mrs. Ethel Brooks of Edmonton on her election as Grand Guardian. Another highlight of the closing session occurred when Jim Radford of Bellevue Grand Outer Guard of the Grand Council presented his wife Mrs. Helen Radford with her Past Grand Jewel.

Greetings from various Bethels from provinces all over Canada were read to the meeting after which the Grand Session closed in regular form to reconvene in Edmonton on the Tuesday following Easter Monday in Edmonton in 1957. A dance concluded the two-day affair.

Pack of Dogs Destroy Deer

A young doe of perhaps a year, was driven into "Crazy Joe's Pond" in east Blairmore early this week by a pack of dogs.

With most of its hind quarters torn out, the deer was found waiting for death near the safety of the pond.

When finally discovered the animal was too weak to even walk. It was rescued by Hector Vanoni who brought the doe to his house. However thanks to the dogs, the deer was too weak from loss of blood to eat, and it was necessary to destroy it.

Packs of unlicensed dogs roaming the towns in the Pass appears quite common and not the least out of the ordinary. I have a dog and it costs me $2 a year to keep him within the law, how about those stray dogs? As a dog lover I would find it very hard to shoot a dog therefore I suggest that a dog pound be set up to handle these animals. What protection could the people of The Pass expect if rabies broke out and spread through these dog packs? Its about time that the situation was corrected, before some child ends up like the deer.

A change for the better

Are you writing a novel and if so have you decided on the title? Don't be too hasty as to that angle. Keep trying for a better title if the first one doesn't look too good. Margaret Mitchell first titled her celebrated best seller "Tomorrow is Another Day", and then changed it to "Gone With the Wind". Thackeray titled a novel "Pencil Sketches of English Society", and then changed it to "Vanity Fair". Philip Gibbs called a book "What the Censor Forbade", and then changed it to "Now It Can Be Told".

Local Resident's Mother Passes In Calgary

Mrs. Lilly Reinecke, of Calgary, mother of Mrs. J. R. Hill of Coleman passed away in the Holy Cross Hospital on Saturday after a brief illness.

Born in St. John, N.B., deceased came to Calgary in 1907. In 1908 she moved with her family to Claresholm where she resided until her return to Calgary in 1950 where she resided until her death.

Mrs. Reinecke was very active in the works of the Red Cross for a great number of years. She was a long time member of the I.O.E. being recent in this organization. She was of the Anglican Faith and a member of St. John's Anglican Church in Calgary.

She is survived by her husband, Otto, of Calgary, one daughter, Mrs. J. R. Hill of Coleman, two grandsons, one brother Charles Climo and one sister Mrs. Frank Alward both of Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Funeral services were held from the Leyden's Funeral home on Wednesday afternoon with Archdeacon E. Maddocks officiating. Interment was in the Queen's Park Cemetery.

The inventory of Canadian forests being carried out under a five-year agreement between the federal government and seven provincial governments is approximately three-quarters finished.

Card of Thanks

I would like to thank this opportunity of thanking the Ladies Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion for the donation I received from them for the Fire Victims Fund.

Females rule animal society discovered in heart of Africa

An animal society ruled by females has been discovered in the heart of Africa by a Belgian naturalist, Rene Verheyen. He has studied the social structures of the hippopotamus community in the Congo and has found it to be a matriarchy, according to a story published in Brussels, Belgium.

The core of the community, Verheyen says, is the creche, occupied by up to 50 females and young. It is usually located on a sandbank of a river or lake. The matriarchal territory also includes a portion of the adjacent water and shore and is used by the females and their offspring for resting.

Surrounding this inner sanctum are two to six males of high standing in the hippo hierarchy. They act as palace guards and each has control over some part of the pathways leading inland to pasture. They also keep under surveillance, at a respectful distance, a sector of the creche.

In the mating season it is the female who goes out and chooses her mate. At other times, females may visit a refuge—pay a social call, so to speak. The males will repay these calls, but they do so on the ladies' terms.

A male hippo visiting his sector of the creche must do so with humility. If, upon his arrival, one of the females rises, he must lie down. Only when the female resumes the prone position may he again stand up.

The penalty for nonobservance of the rules of hippo etiquette is more severe than comparable breaches of social code among humans. The erring male hippo will be driven from the refuge by force, the females combining, if necessary, to do this.

Perhaps as a result of this strict regard for social values instilled in him by the matriarchs, hippo males are snobbish social climbers. They have brawls among themselves to maintain or gain social rank, measured by their proximity to the creche, Verheyen reports.

Definite place in the militia for veterans

There is a definite place in the militia for the veteran still able to get service, declared Major-General H. F. G. Letson, militia adviser to the general staff, on a recent visit to Regina.

General Letson is on a two months tour of the 23 militia districts in Canada so that he will be in a position to advise army headquarters from first hand knowledge.

Declaring that the state of Canada's militia "has never been better" and that facilities are available to handle "twice as many," General Letson added that "since a ruling was brought in, at least a year ago, the number of members to attend at each call has increased to 200, at least 30 parades a year to qualify for pay, the force had become more effective than at any time in recent years."

Regular army strength is about 50,000, General Letson said and added that the militia was almost equal in strength.

Changes in equipment establishments are not planned until all regular army units are fully equipped with the newest weapons, he said. Then, as supplies are available, militia units too will receive modern arms.

More public support for the militia was desirable General Letson said, adding that there is a certain amount of apathy on the part of the public about the danger of war. He felt there is still a place in atomic war for the old style infantry and tanks. He felt there is urgency also in being prepared.

Miracle of Main street

The "miracle of Main street", in Ridgefield, Conn., was described recently by a University of Rhode Island professor. Dr. Marvin Rife, writing in Recreation, published by the National Recreation Association, said citizens of Ridgefield mapped out a year-round leisure-time program for their residents of all ages. The town established a community centre where a variety of activities for both adults and children are conducted.

"The volunteer efforts of citizens," he wrote, "have transformed the old skeleton of an old building into a warm, friendly community centre."

Dr. Rife was a member of the centre's board of directors and program committee chairman for two years before joining the Rhode Island faculty.

Among the features of the centre are a canteen for teenagers, open afternoons, weekend days and evenings, and classes in ballet, dramatics, dancing, basketball, French, photography, golf, a ski club, a theatre guild and educational movies. A day camp was operated last summer, and a day nursery for pre-school children was started this fall.

Dr. Rife said some of the factors that contributed to the success of the centre were "good old hard work, thorough and accurate records, competent leaders response to public need, public relations, regular meetings, central office efficiency, flexibility of program, inclusive nature of services and economy."

Red and white stop signs on Manitoba roads

All new "Stop Signs" erected on Provincial Trunk Highways in Manitoba will be the red and white octagonal signs approved by the American Society of State Highway Officials. It is announced by the Minister of Public Works, Hon. F. C. Bell.

Permission has also been granted to use the same sign on any other highway in the province.

The new "Stop Sign" will carry the word "Stop" in white letters at least one-third of the height of the sign.

In rural districts, the minimum size of the signs has been set at 30 inches by 30 inches. In residential and business districts, where speeds are low, traffic light, or mounting space limited, the minimum size of 24 inches by 24 inches may be used.

All such signs are to be illuminated or reflectorized in the lettering at least. No secondary messages, such as Provincial Trunk Highway or Through Street will be permitted on stop signs.

"This new sign is much more effective," the minister stated, "due to its increased size and red background, which gives the driver advance warning of a potentially dangerous situation."

More goals scored in third period N.H.L. records show

More goals are scored in the final 20 minutes of a National Hockey League game than during any other session. Out of the 890 N.H.L. goals scored up to the morning of February 23, 335 were scored in the third period. Two hundred and sixty-two were tallied in the opening period and 293 in the second session. The teams scored more goals as the game progressed.

The league-leading Montreal Canadiens are the highest scoring team in the circuit and the Canadians are also the most productive club during the second and third periods. The Habs tallied 77 of their 178 goals in the third period. They notched 56 in the second and 46 in the initial 20-minute period.

Second highest-scoring team in the N.H.L., the New York Rangers, are the second top goal-getting crew in the final frame, but are the leaders in breaking fast from the barrier. The Rangers lead all clubs in goal scoring during the first period. The Rangers tallied 53 of their 172 goals in this period. They scored 52 in the middle frame and 67 in the final period.

Detroit Red Wings, third best scoring team with 157 centers on the morning of February 23, notched 46 in the first period, 54 in the second and 57 in the third. Toronto Maple Leafs are the most consistent in each period. It didn't seem to matter what period it was the Leafs scored about the same number of goals. They garnered 43 in the first, 44 in the second and 42 in the third.

Chicago Black Hawks are a low-scoring team in the early stages of the game but usually finish strongly. They become noticeably stronger in each succeeding period. The Black Hawks tallied 38 goals in the opening period, upped the total to 45 for the second heat and to a lively 51 in the closing session.

The Boston Bruins are the lowest-scoring aggregation in each period. The Bruins scored 36 in the first, 42 in the second and 41 in the third. Like most of the clubs the Bruins scored with greater frequency as the game progressed. Toronto Maple Leafs are the only team who failed to score more goals in the third period than in the first. Every other club shows

Lake one-day, puddle the next

What was once a well-stocked fishing lake the day was only a puddle the next, Morris Hightower of Alabama, is still wondering how it all happened so fast.

When Hightower went to boat one night the lake was trampled and showed no signs of disappearing. But the next morning, all Hightower could find of his lake was a small puddle of water where the lake had been 12 feet deep.

State geologists attributed the phenomenon to a line-sink that simply sank, dropping the water level.

Funny and Otherwise

An angel woman had been given a birthday party each year at which she received kick-knocks for her house. When she reached 90, a friend asked her what she wanted.

"Just give me a kiss, so I won't have to dust it off," she replied.

Visiting Paris an American woman went to a bureau which provided American men as escorts. When informed that she could engage either a Southerner or a Southerner, she asked the difference, and was told that the Southerners were gallant, debaucher, while the Northerners were smooth talkers and romantic.

"Well, then," she said, "I'll take a Southerner from as far north as possible."

"Four weeks ago I was so run down that I could not even spank the baby," wrote a woman to a certain manufacturer. "But after taking three bottles of your wonderful tonic, I am now able to thrash my husband in addition to my other household."

A landlord asked his guest, "How did you find the room?" "Terrible," replied the frank guest. "I didn't close my eyes all night."

"That's your own fault, sir. If you want to sleep you must close your eyes."

Pre-season conditioning hints

A good investment for the coming season, no matter what sport you play, is to strengthen the key areas of the body. Dr. T. K. Cureton of the University of Illinois has shown that improved strength means improved playing ability in all sports.

Here are two areas which are important to any athlete:

1. Lower leg and foot. A very good exercise is the "heel and toe rock and lift." Take a standing position with your feet together. Rock forward on your toes as far as you can. Then rock back on to your heels trying to touch your toes to your shin bones. Do 10 of these, rest and then repeat. Continue until you are just reaching fatigue. After you begin to develop strength in this area, place a heavy barrel or similar weight on your shoulders as you do the exercise.

2. Stomach and hips. The jackknife is one of the best exercises for this area. Lie down on your back with your legs together and your arms stretched back over your head. With a sudden burst raise your legs and at the same time your upper body and arms. The knees should be stiff, and you should try to touch your toes with your fingers at a spot just above the hips. You may find this difficult at first. Try working up to sections of four at a time, done as fast as possible for as long as possible with 10 seconds rest between each section.

Have a check up

Before you start your pre-season training, make sure you visit a doctor. Tell him all about what you are going to be doing. This is an important point, and you would be wise to have a check up at the end of a season too.

Learn a secondary game

Every athlete who takes part in such strenuous sports as football, track, hockey, basketball, etc., should learn a secondary sport. These include tennis, handball, volleyball, golf, badminton, etc.

There are two reasons for this. One is that the secondary sport will help the athlete keep in shape during the off-season. The athlete who lets his condition go when he's out of season is the athlete who doesn't last too long in his sport, particularly if it is a really strenuous one.

The second reason for learning

On The Side: E. V. Durling

In an office where a number of young women are employed only one has gone through the winter thus far without having a cold or losing a day's work for such an ailment. Asked to account for this, the young woman said, "I wear long flannel underwear. When sleeping, I wear an old-fashioned night cap and keep my bedroom windows closed. The same as my grandmother did. She lived to be 94 and never had a cold in her life."

Grace and Service

When Grace Kelly marries the Prince of Monaco, one of her neighbors in Monte Carlo will be Robert W. Service, the poet, who is now 82. When he was young, Service was a bank clerk in the Yukon. He was fond of reciting such Kipling poems as "Bells," "Chunga Din" and "They're Hanging Danny Deever in the Morning". He repeated these so much he felt the need of something new for his repertoire. He decided to write it himself. So he wrote "The Shooting of Dan McGrew". It is often erroneously said this poem is based on an actual happening. It is completely fictitious. Strictly a product of Service's lively imagination.

Bald facts

Is your hair growing thin? Does baldness appear just around the corner? Ever hear of the old-fashioned idea of consuming root crops such as onions, carrots, turnips and radishes for the stimulation of hair growth? These vegetables are said to have all the salts required to promote hair health.

Calling all colleens

Maria Tallichief is a beautiful and brilliant ballerina. Maria's father was an Indian chief. Her mother was Irish. This brings to mind that the father of the great inventor Marconi was Italian and his mother Irish. Also that Adolphe Menjou's father was French and his mother Irish. Keep that in mind, young fellows, when seeking a matrimonial mate. Find a nice Irish girl and you may become the father of a celebrity.

What price bachelorhood

In Greece, bachelors have to pay double taxes. Also any public official who is not married by the age of 25 must resign his position.

Lethal blow

Gene Tunney was "a brilliant boxer," but a "light puncher." So says a sportscaster. A ridiculous statement. Some of these Johnny-come-latelys of the sport pages should spend a little time studying the history of boxing. Tunney picked a terrific puncher, Jack Dempsey, said the hardest blow he ever stopped was one Tunney landed on him in the seventh round of the Chicago fight. Said Dempsey of this punch, "It was not a question in my mind of being knocked out. I thought I was going to die."

CARNIVAL QUEEN—Pat Parkes of Ottawa tips her crown to the crowd and winks after being named Carnival Queen at Beauséjour, Quebec, a ski resort near the Capital. More than 300 skiers turned out for the fifth annual carnival.

NO WHITE SPOT

Young bald eagles do not have the white spot on their heads which characterize fully adult birds.

GREAT BEAR LAKE

Large lake wholly within Canadian territory is Great Bear lake, in the Mackenzie district of the Northwest Territories.

Canadians do more reading

Despite television and other distractions, Canadians are doing more reading.

This was indicated in the latest biennial survey of libraries issued by the Bureau of Statistics. It showed public libraries enjoyed a general expansion in 1953 over 1951, including a 20 percent increase in the number of borrowers.

The 1953 survey covered 765 public libraries, nine mail-order and travelling libraries, 268 university and college and 131 business and professional libraries and made these findings:

An estimated 55 percent of the population had public library service and 21 percent of the population with such service were registered borrowers. Public library expenditures in 1953 for all Canada amounted to a per capita rate of 55 cents.

THE CANCER PROBLEM

WHAT IS CANCER?

... Cancer is the disorganized, unregulated growth of body cells. Although a great deal has been discovered about the nature of this growth, the cause is unknown.

... Cancer cells can be destroyed by radiation or removed from the body by surgery. If treatment is begun early there is often a good chance of cure.

... Although certain chemical compounds and hormones have been found to be of use in the control of tumor growth, radiation or surgery or a combination of the two are the only fully effective treatments for cancer.

CANCER'S TOLL

... Last year cancer killed 20,000 Canadians.

... This is an average of almost 55 persons per day.

... More than two Canadians every hour of the day and night died of cancer.

... More than 3,000 of the cancer casualties were people under 50 years of age.

... Almost 9,000 were persons under 65 years of age.

... More than 300 were children under ten years of age.

... Cancer killed more children between the ages of 5 and 14 than any other disease.

... More women between the ages of 25 and 54 died from cancer than from any other cause.

ECONOMIC LOSS

... Annually Canada loses more than 55,000 man years of labor due to cancer. This is based on the assumption that each worker killed by cancer would otherwise have been a member of the labor force until the age of 65.

MEN AND WOMEN

... Slightly more men than women die of cancer each year. The ratio is about 52 to 46.

... Almost twice as many men die of stomach cancer as do women.

... Almost six times as many men as women die of cancer of the lung and respiratory tract.

... Cancer of the breast accounts for more than 25 per cent of the cancer deaths in women under 50 years of age.

... Between 1941-1954 the Canadian death rate from cancer was 10.5% from 119.6 per 100,000 of population in 1955.

... During the same period the death rate for women increased 5.2% from 122.5 per 100,000 in 1955.

ON THE HOPEFUL SIDE

... There has been a significant decline in male mortality from cancer of the mouth for the period 1941-1953.

... Significant decreases for both sexes are evident in deaths from cancer of the stomach.

... Mortality from cancer of the uterus also shows significant decrease in the same period.

BLOOD TYPES OR GROUPS

Of every one hundred people 40 have Rh O group blood, 40 have Rh A group blood, 10 have Rh B group blood, and 10 have Rh AB group. There are again divided into two groups, POSITIVE and Rh NEGATIVE. 85% of the one hundred all have positive blood and 15% will be negative. The Negatives will in proportion be 6 A's, 1 B and 1 AB.

So you will see that it is very important to have an adequate supply of all types, and especially a great supply of O group blood, in every emergency. You wonder if there is a supply of your particular type? Yes, hundreds of bottles may be collected every week to maintain the Blood Bank for your own family and neighbors in A.S. 14. You can help by being a donor when the clinic comes to your District.

When YOU donate your Blood during a Blood Donor Clinic, YOU are not just giving to the Red Cross, who is simply the agency or trained, skilled and planned handling of this precious fluid, but YOU are giving to some in real need. A friend, neighbor, a little child from down street or a patient in the Hospital within reach of this Vital Service will be forever grateful to you, an unknown friend in need.

This, Your Service, is maintained by Public Subscription and these Red Cross Dollars are carefully spent to keep expenses to a minimum. One bottle of Life-saving blood at the Patching and doctors costs approximately $5.00. Only through the co-operation of public-spirited people giving in their own way is this service sustained.

WHY BOYS' CLUB WEEK

There are so many "club" weeks, promoted solely for commercial purposes, that the general public is apt to ignore them, but the first "WEEK" in April — "Boys' Club Week" — is much more important than most of the others because it has no commercial angle to it, nor does it seek financial gain from its observance. "Boys' Club Week" provides the opportunity for every citizen to do a bit of serious thinking regarding his country and those who, in the not too distant future will be its leaders. The youth of today are the men of tomorrow, and while much has been said about the characteristics of modern youth, there is sound logic in the declaration made by that distinguished champion of youth welfare, H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh, who said: "A great many people write and talk about the welfare of youth — but people who work for and support Boys' Clubs are doing something about it".

The need for a Boys' Club exists in almost every community. The fact that in only 27 of the cities and towns of Canada are there any Boys' Clubs, is proof that that need is not being met. True there are 544 well-run clubs that are now members of the Boys' Clubs of Canada, because in some of the larger cities there are several clubs, but even there the number is insufficient to meet requirements.

"Boys' Club Week" provides the opportunity for citizens to see the benefit accruing to youth from the well-planned programs, physical, vocational and cultural, that are being operated under the direction of qualified directors.

"Open House" is an invitation to everyone to take an interest in what their sons and the sons of their neighbors are doing to develop into good citizens, irrespective of creed or nationality. The boys are proud of the skills they have developed, of their hobbies and handicrafts, the praise of their elders is an encouragement to even better effort. In those communities that are not fortunate enough to have a Boys' Club, serious-thinking citizens may well use "Boys' Club Week" to get together and see if they cannot start one. The requirements for a club are simple, and the National Organization, Boys' Clubs of Canada, stands ready to render every assistance to any group that is interested.

Albrea Act Says Phone Wire-tapping Is Illegal

Wire-tapping by police—advocated by Mr. Justice M. M. Porter in the Alberta Supreme Court—was declared illegal under any circumstances by the provincial legislature only last week.

An amendment to the Telephone and Telegraph Act definitely forbids any form of wire-tapping on Alberta government telephone system. And the penalty goes up to $2,000 fine and six months' imprisonment.

Mr. Justice Porter suggested obscene telephone calls could be stopped "in five minutes" if police were authorized to make a secret tape recording of conversations. He made the comment during the hearing of an appeal by George P. Schula, convicted on a common nuisance charge.

But Gordon Taylor, minister of telephones, states the new act applies to police. There could be no possibility of special dispensation for them to dodge the law.

Tape-recording of telephone conversations on the provincial government system in Alberta is also strictly banned unless the equipment emits an audible signal at regular intervals in order to warn persons using the wires.

The only people in the whole province allowed to tap wires are the linemen who carry the special equipment for service reasons of telephone answering services approved by the minister and using approved equipment.

No person who has a right to use the telephone system in Alberta shall use the same for the purpose of intercepting or recording any communication transmitted by means of the same.

Any person who contravenes this section shall be liable on conviction to a fine not exceeding $2,000 or to imprisonment not exceeding six months or to both such fine and imprisonment.

Alberta's new law, which was passed by the legislature last week, is the first of its kind in Canada. It is the first time in the history of the province that the government has taken steps to protect the privacy of its citizens.

Most of the wire-tapping in the province has been done by the police. The new law will make it illegal for them to do so, unless they are using the equipment for service reasons.

The new law will also make it illegal for any person to use the telephone system for the purpose of intercepting or recording any communication transmitted by means of the same.

Anyone see a list of tabulated figures on amounts collected from these campaigns: The Cancer Crusade canvass for Coleman in 1955? The Dunford Operation Fund and The Fire Victim Relief Fund? Nope, guess not. . . It's a deep, dark secret!! Why?

See a number of new 1956 cars gracing the streets of Coleman nowadays. Who? said Coleman residents are broke and it's a ghost town. Well the drivers of these new cars don't look like ghosts to me. Stock exchanges show a very marked increase in price of Coleman Collieries Ltd. stocks, gives citizens of this premier mining centre a grand uplift, we certainly hope this trend will continue. Grapevine tells me a prominent mining official has put thousands of miles travelling to different centres selling coal. It appears to date that he has been quite successful. Keep up the good work. Yes, while we are mentioning Legion, we see where a very popular staff member has taken a position with the Blairmore Legion, same job he had here. Jack Perrissini will be missed by his friends here. Ron McCartney with the fishing fever, sporting a brand new reel, and being greatly admired by many ardent fishermen friends. Spring must be here. Too many Bingo fans at the Elks' Bingo on Friday no chance for me to win that $100.00 jackpot. If this is an indication of what a large jackpot will do, let's have more and let the Elks', they tell me over 300 players participated. Some crowd-joy.

April 9th will stand out in the memory of thousands of Canadians from the second world war. On April 9th 1940 German troops landed in Denmark and Norway, war-time the world with the subjugation of the invasion. Denmark made no resistance, while Norway fought but lost Oslo to the Germans, and the capital was moved to Hamar, a dark day for these two countries. April 9th 1941 Svalbard was abandoned by the Greeks to the Germans who had declared war on her three days before. Great Britain admitted that British troops were fighting with the Greeks. April 9th 1942 was indeed a dark day for our American Allies, on this day Bataan fell to the Japs, defended by Gen. McArthur's forces, and later by Gen. Wainwright. General Wainwright withdrew with only a small force to Corregidor. After this disaster American and Filipino prisoners were inflicted to the "March of Death" by their Jap captors. April 9th 1943. Bolivia entered the war against the Axis powers, and American troops on threshold of retaking Fa'd Pass, Tunisia, from which they were forced to retreat in Feb., April 9, 1944. Russians recapture Odessa, and in Southwest Pacific, Japs start retreat for last stand on New Britain. Red Army launched offensive on Crimea. April 9th 1945. Allied Armies strike west for the Elbe, last big stream before Berlin, while Russian forces strike into Vienna and capture Koenigsberg where 92,000 Germans were captured and 42,000 killed.

April 9th has many memories not only for the people of World War I but to us who suffered through the Second World War.

Ancient Incas first to record vital statistics

Keeping statistics on births, deaths and marriages is by no means a modern practice. Egypt in the age of the Pharaohs, ancient Romans and the Incas of Peru also recorded them, according to a new United Nations study, entitled "Handbook of Vital Statistics Methods".

It was prepared by the U.N.'s Statistical Office to help governments develop and appraise their services for recording live and still births, deaths, marriages and divorces. This information is important for planning and carrying out social and economic policies. Based on data from more than 100 countries and territories, the Handbook is the most comprehensive survey of its kind ever to have been made.

The registration of births, deaths and marriages, it shows, has had a very long history. Thus, ancient Egypt had a vital statistics scheme in operation as far back as 1250 B.C., and citizens of Rome in the sixth century B.C. were required to report the arrival of new-born children within 30 days of their birth.

Registration systems as known today however, really began with the Incas of Peru. They had a well-developed records system, even though they did not know how to write. They used knotted strings called "quipus" for the purpose.

Squirrels

Squirrels are such cute little animals. They appear to be in perpetual mood. Running up and down trees so quickly and so busy sampling goodies. This particular little fellow is quite a pet of some friends of ours. They have a feeding tray attached to a cedar tree and keep it filled with everything he likes. The other day while I was having tea with them they drew my attention to his antics. He had made quite a path from the tree to a board by the side of the house. Busy storing food. He would first sit up with his bushy tail curled over his back. Take something out of the box, sample it and then make a quick dash to his hiding place. We wondered if it could signify a sudden change in weather.

Perhaps more snow when he would find it difficult to negotiate. We did not have to wait and see. In meantime "Mike" will have quite a variety of food to choose from in case of stormy weather. Bernice O'Sullivan, Boswell.

ITALY'S PRESIDENT MET AT WHITE HOUSE—President Eisenhower extends a welcome at the White House to President Giovanni Gronchi, of Italy. The Italian President, who arrived in Washington on the first state visit by an Italian Chief of State, said that his country plans to broaden its co-operation with the U.S. in the service of peace. Others are, left to right, Mrs. Eisenhower, Signora Gronchi, U.S. Ambassador Clare Boothe Luce, and Signora Martino, wife of the Italian Foreign Minister.

COMMEMORATIVE STAMP—This is a one-franc Monaco commemorative stamp, part of an issue designed to signal the forthcoming wedding of Prince Rainier and film star Grace Kelly. Between the two portraits is the date of their wedding and below that their entwined initials. The stamps will be sold publicly only on the day of the wedding and before that to collectors who apply for them.

"BATTLESHIPS" OF TRUE COLD WAR—Tugs maintain a ceaseless twin patrol of the Elbe River estuary at Hamburg, Germany, as all of Europe battles the worst-in-a-century winter. Tugs seek to keep a channel open to the vital North Sea port in the face of the series of blizzards and cold waves which have claimed hundreds of lives during the last few months.

SWEET ARRANGEMENT—If you have a nice taste in flowers, you'll enjoy this floral offering. Blossoms of sugar and a vase of chocolate paste are placed on display at a pastry and confection show in Paris, France, by master confectioner Jean DeBlieux.

ARTILLERY—A heavy weapon in the war for men's minds is this battery of nine loudspeakers. Set up on Quemoy Island, it is beamed toward Red-held China, some five miles away, and carries Nationalist China propaganda broadcasts. Islands in background are part of the Quemoy Island complex, once again in the news as tension in Formosan waters increases.

OUR COMPLETE SHORT STORY—

the line that sells

—By A. H. ORLOFF

I'M NOT through yet, Mary," said Joe Morris. "Your father doesn't want us to marry now, but I'll keep right on trying to convince him."

Mary Delany kissed him lightly through a ring of tobacco smoke from his pipe. "Father will like that," she said. "He's a salesman at heart, and so are you. He certainly won't think less of you for trying."

Joe smiled wryly. "How much is less than nothing?"

"You know that isn't so," Mary said. "He really likes you a lot."

"Then he has a strange way of showing it," Joe replied. "When I came out of the army and got my old job back, your father told me I hadn't lost my knack. He said that I was a better salesman than ever. He'd joke and say some day I'd be the salesmanager in his place. But he's changed since he learned about us. Very formal, if you know what I mean. Became all business with me, and had no time for the old jokes. Not to mention the fact that he's handed me just about every tough sales account in the office."

"Do you know what I think, Joe?" said Mary, earnestly. "I think you are just being terribly self-conscious. But please don't worry. You've sold me. And who says you can't sell father, too? There isn't another salesman like you in that old company."

At the weekly sales conference the next day, Joe was listening to Mr. Delany deliver his usual fifteen-minute pep talk. In one guise or another, Joe had heard it all before. But towards the end he grew keenly attentive as Mr. Delany in his gruff, hearty manner said, "Find the line that sells, and stick to it. That's my personal slogan. And I don't mean a line of goods. I mean that little something that goes to the heart of your customer. When you find it, use it. Get right under his skin. The rest is as easy as eating apple pie. You'll sell him! I know because it has worked for me for forty years."

The idea excited Joe. But how was he to find the line that would sell a hardened customer like Mr. Delany? He wanted to think about it when the meeting ended. He had just reached the door when Mr. Delany, stepping away from the other salesmen crowding around him, called out, "Joe, just a minute. I want to see you." Joe turned back. Mr. Delany's tone worried him. After the room was cleared Mr. Delany said, "I'm turning over the Hiram Gould account to you. Mr. Gould is expected in from Chicago tonight. Meet him at the station. Now, Joe, this time the company wants his business. Dick Travers had the assignment three months ago. He did not get Gould's order. See that you do!"

Joe found Mr. Gould a short, stout man with slanting eyes. Joe himself was watchful and very attentive. He saw Mr. Gould's expression change as a young couple went by arm in arm. "They seem to be very happy," Joe remarked. A taxi rolled up and Mr. Gould leaned back in his seat. "Yes," he said, "that young couple seemed happy. Married, I suppose. That's what I like. I like married people. I like to do business with a married man. He has a sense of responsibility. Much more dependable, although I admit you'll find exceptions."

Joe sensed what was coming next. He thought of Mr. Delany's speech and he made a quick decision. He was prepared for Mr. Gould's question.

Joe looked at him brightly. "Yes, indeed, Mr. Gould," he said. "Just recently, and to the finest girl in the world."

The taxi drew to a stop at the hotel. "That's good, my boy," said Mr. Gould. "I'm very glad to know that. Well, I'll see you tomorrow, and we'll get down to business then. Make it for lunch right here at the hotel. And I'll tell you what, I'd like to meet your bride. Bring her along."

Joe could hardly wait until Mr. Gould entered the hotel. He rushed for a telephone. Mary did not quite understand what he was trying to tell her. But from his excitement, she knew something important had happened. Mary agreed to meet him immediately at their favorite spot.

He told her about Mr. Gould. "It came to me like a flash," Joe explained. "Right out of your father's sales slogan. 'Find the line that sells and stick to it!' Mary, I've found that line. There's only one way I can stick to it. I need your help to do it. Will you marry me?"

"You mean now? Right away, Joe?"

He nodded eagerly. "It's the only way," he said. "I've only got until noon tomorrow."

"But, Joe, there's father..."

"Don't worry about your father," Joe broke in. "I'm sure I've found the line that will sell him, too. One thing he'll never do, and that's go back on his own slogan."

Mary looked at him. Joe had his answer. "Honey," he said, "let's go!"

At lunch the next day Mr. Gould asked Mary. "How long did you say you've been married?"

Happily, Mary replied, "Oh, recently, very recently."

Mr. Gould looked at Joe. "Yes, I thought so. That's what your husband told me last night." Mr. Gould laughed, and had a good time. After lunch he gave Joe an order that made his eyes pop. "Since you've only recently been married," Mr. Gould said to Joe, "you can tell Mr. Delany that this order of mine is sort of a wedding present. On second thought, I think I'll tell him myself. Joe and Mary exchanged glances. Joe put his arm around her, reassuringly. Mr. Gould beamed.

"What now?" Mary asked after he left them.

"Wait," Joe said. "We just wait. Trust me, honey. Let Mr. Gould have his talk with your father. I'm banking on his slogan. As soon as he sees Mr. Gould, your father will hunt the city for us. Meanwhile, we'll sit tight. We'll telephone him later to break the news just as if it were a surprise."

Mary telephoned her father early that evening. Joe stood by whispering, "Now don't forget the slogan. It's our trump card." When the connection was finally completed Joe heard Mr. Delany's explosive, "Mary! Where are you?" After that he heard only an assortment of sounds boom over the telephone, then suddenly Mary's happy laughter.

"There, what did I say?" Joe shouted. "I said your father wouldn't go back on his own slogan. Worked like magic. Isn't it wonderful?"

"And so are you," Mary said, hugging him. "Father said to tell you he's not the company sales manager just for the fun of the job. He wanted to be sure you had what it takes. He knew Mr. Gould's little peculiarity, that he would only buy from a married man. He learned that when Dick Travers lost the first sale. That's why he gave you the assignment. He hoped you would know what to do. You didn't disappoint him — or me."

Nitrogenous fertilizers on market

Nitrogen for use as a fertilizer is on the market in gaseous, liquid and solid forms. Each has some advantage in regard to cost, application or ease of handling, but so far as the plant is concerned, it makes little difference which form is used if equal amounts of nitrogen are applied, says J. L. Doughty, Soil Research Laboratory, Canada Department of Agriculture, Swift Current, Sask.

When nitrogen in the form of ammonia is applied to a soil it is changed into nitrate within a few days by soil micro-organisms, providing the soil temperatures and moisture supply are favorable. Practically all nitrogen used by plants enters the root system in the form of nitrate irrespective of the form initially applied to the soil.

The oxidation of ammonia to nitrate is very slow when the soil temperature is below 45 degrees F. and for this reason late fall application of nitrogen in the form of ammonia is held by the soil as moist, for the ammonia gas must combine with the soil moisture to be relatively safe from loss by volatilization. Nitrogen in the form of ammonia is held by the colloidal material and is relatively safe from loss by leaching, while the nitrate form moves freely with the soil moisture and may be lost by deep percolation following heavy rains.

The farmer when deciding which nitrogenous fertilizer to use must consider the cost per unit of nitrogen, the method of application and the ease of handling. These factors must be balanced one against the other to determine which fertilizer is the most suitable for the particular case under consideration.

It must be kept in mind that the maximum return from any fertilizer will only be obtained when the other essential elements and moisture are present in adequate amounts. Nitrogen will not compensate for some other nutrient that may be lacking.

CINDER IN THE EYE

The cinder that flies into the eye on a windy day can cause a lot of pain and, if it is not properly removed, it may cause infection. Probing for it or rubbing the eye may result in the cinder becoming embedded in the eyeball. A simple way of removing most foreign bodies is to wipe the lower lashes, then draw the upper lid out and down over the lower, in order to "sweep" the cinder from the upper lid. If this is not successful, it is best to see a doctor to have the object safely removed.

A.A.U. Information -- Wrestling

(By Stratton F. Caldwell, Physical Director Y.M.C.A., Regina)

Although amateur wrestling appears to have come into prominence only within the last few decades, it is actually one of the oldest sports known to man. It was one of the most popular contests in the ancient Olympic Games and also formed part of the Pentathlon, an all around athletic championship which included running, jumping, throwing the discus and the javelin.

During the Olympic Games, however, the objective of wrestling was not merely the pinning of an opponents shoulders. The wrestler aimed to knock his opponent down and then shorten his earthly days with a lethal weapon.

Today the values of wrestling are recognized both in the amateur and professional fields.

The amateur wrestler strives to develop self reliance, aggressiveness, strength, flexibility, balance, speed, leverage and the ability to work under extreme conditions of physical stress.

The professional wrestler, usually an excellent amateur wrestler to begin with, must develop showmanship and theatrical ability to a high degree.

The basic difference between the two types of wrestling is the ultimate aim. Amateur wrestlers seek to gain control over the opponent at all times and pin the shoulders to the mat for a required number of seconds. Points are awarded throughout the match by referees for take downs, position, aggressiveness, escapes, near falls and other movements. A match may be won on points with no pinning of the shoulders. In professional wrestling, however, very few holds are illegal and the contestants may win by either pinning his opponent or causing him to submit to defeat by means of painful, punishing holds.

There are two rather distinct styles of amateur wrestling practiced throughout the world today, Graeco-Roman and Free Style wrestling.

Graeco-Roman wrestlers strive to upset the opponent and pin his shoulders to the mat. All holds must be taken above the waist, consequently this type of wrestler must have a powerful upper body. The legs cannot be used for tripping, scissoring or holding an opponent. No hold is allowed which might result in serious injury. A wrestler is defeated when both shoulders touch the mat at the same time.

Free style wrestling finds greatest popularity in English speaking countries. Free style wrestlers may take holds below the waist and only dangerous holds are forbidden. The use of the legs for tripping, scissoring and holding an opponent is a vital part of this style wrestling. And as in Graeco-Roman wrestling, a man is beaten when both shoulders are touching the mat.

Olympic wrestling rules as used in Saskatchewan and the rest of Canada in amateur wrestling is somewhat different. Anyone interested can obtain information by contacting the provincial chairman, Lee Denison, 2065 Montague St., Regina.

BEAUTY CROWN RIVALS

Rivals for the beauty crown among North American waterfowl, the Wood Duck and the Hooded Merganser are also rivals for nesting sites. Both prefer sites above the ground, usually in a tree or in a hollow log. Conflict between the two species for a particular site often occurs, but occasionally the female of one species will lay its eggs in the nest of the other species, indicating that a degree of tolerance exists. Both species are peculiar to North America.

How can YOU benefit from having a Current Account?

You'll find it much easier to keep an accurate record of your current expenses when you have a Current Account.

When you pay all bills by cheque on your Current Account, you receive back, at the end of each month, all your cancelled cheques as well as a bank statement showing every withdrawal and every deposit you have made. The cancelled cheques serve as receipts—and are accepted in court as evidence of payment of the amount shown. Furthermore, they are much easier to file away than receipts and take less room to store. With them and your bank statements, you'll find it far easier to get an exact picture of how you spend your money. So it's a good move to use a Current Account for paying all current bills—and keep your Savings Account for actual savings.

Suggestions to Cut Traffic Accidents, Highway Deaths

With highway death and accident rates increasing in all provinces of Canada, authorities everywhere are considering new traffic regulations to help decrease the appalling toll. One agency, a committee of the Ontario legislature, after making studies of traffic control in this country and the United States, has made sweeping recommendations, some of which may be adopted by many provinces.

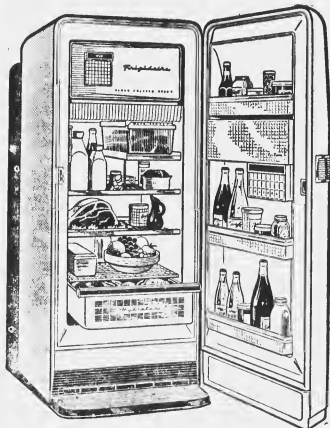

Most radical of the suggestions is that persons under 21 be issued probationary licences only, and that those over 21 be required to take new driving tests at regular intervals. Other recommendations include one to prohibit any vehicle to drive in a left lane on a curve or on approaching the crest of a hill; all vehicles to be equipped with mechanical direction signals; all vehicles to be required to carry flares, and use them when halted on the highway after dark; all pedestrians to be required to walk facing oncoming traffic; stiffer licence suspensions for careless or reckless driving; sending traffic violators to safety school; courses in highway safety and driving in schools farm tractors to show head and rear lights on the highway after dark; vehicles to stop behind halted school buses; authorities to be empowered to designate "built-up" areas where traffic requires, and limit speeds regardless of population; permitting passing on the right in lane traffic. Consideration will be given to banning dangerous ornaments and projections on all vehicles, also to manufacturers placing less emphasis on power and speed in advertising; mandatory re-examination of all drivers within 10 years of a set date, and abolition of "right-of-way" of cars turning onto highway after making a full stop.
